Information:

The MDC250-11 corner unit is a decorative frame element that allows for an aesthetic interior finish. Designed to be paired with the MDC250 strip, it creates a cohesive composition. Made from lightweight ProFoam material, it features high resistance to moisture and UV radiation, preventing yellowing and cracking. This product is suitable for use in rooms with elevated humidity, such as kitchens and bathrooms. The option to paint it with water-based paints allows for easy matching with your interior decor. Installation of the corner unit is quick and intuitive, and its design ensures stability and durability.
